Question of Carrier Mills Pct. 1 Vote Up Before Canvassing Board

Five Election Workers Admit Ballots Overlooked

Canvassing of the Saline county vote began today at the court house with one important item—what to do about the vote in Carrier Mills Precinct 1—pending.

Circuit Clerk Quentin Bowers, Republican, beaten 117 votes for re-election by James R. Burroughs, Democrat, according to unofficial figures, this morning filed a statement with the canvassing board which said that a large number of scratch ballots in Carrier Mills 1 were not counted for him and other candidates.

The statement said that there was a total of 697 votes cast—223 straight Democratic, 268 straight Republican and 206 scratched—in the precinct, and that the total shown cast for president was 579, which indicated that more than 100 ballots were not counted. Unofficial result showed Bowers getting 308, Burroughs 257 in the precinct.

Say Ballots Overlooked

Present at the county clerk's office, where ballots were to be canvassed, were five of the six Carrier Mills 1 election judges and clerks, and all told the canvassing board that there was a pile of ballots that was overlooked and not counted, through oversight.

The five were Raymond Allen, Addie Overstake and J. O. Slayden, judges, and Juanita Schwartz and Muriel Thomas, clerks.

After considerable discussion among attorneys on what should be done, the matter was left in the hands of the canvassing board—County Clerk Don B. Garrison, GOP Chairman K. C. Capel, and Democratic Vice Chairman Everett Shaw.

Capel indicated he would vote for opening the Carrier Mills ballots for a recount on the strength of what the judges and clerks said and Shaw indicated he would vote against opening them.

Agree Full Count Not Made

Attorneys in the discussion were Glen O. Jones, George B. Lee and Ralph W. Choiser, who said they believed a new law permitted the canvassing board to open the ballots for recount on testimony of the judges and clerks, and County Judge Trafton Dennis, chairman of the board, who said he did not believe the board had the authority to do it.

A call to the attorney general's office was not conclusive. About all principals agreed that a full count had not been made of the ballots in Carrier Mills 1.

Patrons Invited To Inspect New Junior High Saturday and Sunday

The reconstructed south section of the Harrisburg Junior High school and the northern section, completed late in 1954, will be open for inspection Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday afternoon.

The public is invited, and invitations have been extended to school officials and others interested in areas outside Harrisburg.

The thought of the school officials is that the open house sessions will permit visitors to inspect the entire building at their choice of hours and dates. Formal dedication will be made later.

School officials, teachers and students will be on hand to direct visitors to various parts of the building from five till nine o'clock Saturday, and from two till five o'clock Sunday afternoon. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Herman T. Towle, 84, Dean of Harrisburg Retail Merchants, Dies

Funeral Services Will Be Held Saturday 3 p. m.

Herman T. Towle, 84, of the Palace Clothing House in this city and dean of Harrisburg retail merchants, died at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at Lightner hospital. Illnesses which started with a heart attack more than three years ago caused his death.

His funeral will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. in the chapel of the Gaskins funeral home, to which the body was taken, and will be conducted by the Rev. William Burroughs, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which he was a member. Burial will be at Sunset Lawn cemetery. The family requests that flowers be omitted.

Selected to serve as pallbearers were Marvin Barnett, Dr. E. M. Travelstead, O. L. Woods, John Stump, Ralph English and George Lee.

Mr. Towle was born in Harrisburg on January 1, 1872, the son of Joseph and Minerva Towle. His mother lived to be 98 years of age. His only brother, Ralph Towle, and the latter's daughter, Virginia, reside in Louisville, Ky.

Observed Golden Wedding

In 1901 he and Miss Loudene Karnes, Galatia, were married. They observed their Golden Wedding anniversary in 1951. Mrs. Towle died on Dec. 21, 1955, and their only daughter, Mrs. N. A. (Bernice) Herrmann, was killed in an automobile accident last February 28, which also took the life of her husband, a well known medical doctor of this city.

Their two sons, John W. Towle and Edwin Towle, operate the Fashion Palace and the Palace Clothing stores in this city, both of which will be closed Saturday for the funeral of their father.

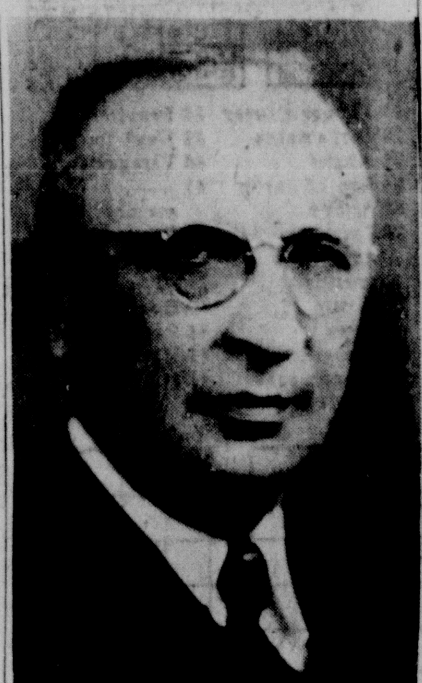

There are four grandchildren, Towle and David Brown and Edwin Towle and Cline Towle.

Mr. Towle succeeded his father and grandfather in the clothing business.

For more than a hundred years there has been a Towle in the retail business in Harrisburg. Growing in the business operated by his father at the corner of Poplar and Vine streets, Mr. Towle and the late Harry Harper formed a partnership in 1905 and opened a store at the corner of Locust and Main streets, where the Rainbow Drug store is now located. Later they moved to the Pruett building across the street, where Hart's Department store is now located.

Held One Public Office

After 21 years in the Pruett building the Palace Clothing House was moved to its present location at the corner of Vine and Locust streets. As the years passed Mr. Towle continued to be active at the store, but left most of the business in the hands of his two capable sons.

Herman T. Towle

ness in the hands of his two capable sons.

During the last few years of the life of Mrs. Towle, he spent considerable time with her and since her death his own health failed so rapidly that he was less and less able to come downtown.

Admired and respected for his business integrity and Christian citizenship, Mr. Towle was noted for his kindness in business and his friendship for his customers.

He was a charter member of Harrisburg Lodge No. 1058, B. P. O. E., and in years past had been more active in civic affairs. The only public office he had ever held was that of Alderman when Harrisburg was still under the form of village government, and that was during the administrations of the late J. B. Blackman and the late J. B. Ford.

Ex-College Student Dies in Gunfight With Police After Store Robbery

CHICAGO (U.P.)—A 21-year-old former college student who liked to carry a gun to classes died Thursday in a blind alley gunfight with police trying to arrest him for a clothing store robbery.

Larry Stallings Mock, former University of Illinois sophomore from Robinson, Ill., was shot and killed after a chase by three taxi drivers and police on Chicago's North Side.

The youth left the university—where he was said to have liked to carry a gun to his journalism classes—about mid-October because he "didn't like it." He had been living here in the plush Drake and Edgewater Beach hotels.

Mock robbed the Roger Burton men's store of $300 in a daring daylight robbery, and then tried

Plane Hits 810- Foot TV Tower, Building; 4 Dead

NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (U.P.)—An 810-foot television tower, struck by a plane which crashed in flames into an apartment building, threatened today to topple into a heavily-populated residential area.

Four and possibly five persons were killed when the twin-engine Beechcraft plane struck the fog-shrouded tower Thursday and careened into the top floor of the apartment house. The plane tore a 75-foot gash in the top of the 36-family building and fire gutted the fifth floor. Four persons were injured.

Mayor Angelo Sarubbi said engineers would attempt today to cut the top of the tower free with acetylene torches and remove it in "a direct drop." The freed part would be directed in its fall by guide wires.

Some 3,000 persons were evacuated and sought shelter with relatives, in nearby schools and motels in the area which offered them free lodging.

The Red Cross declared the section a disaster area and provided food and shelter for the homeless. An Army truck from First Army Headquarters in New York delivered blankets and coats early today to the schools.

The pilot and co-pilot of the plane, both killed, were identified as William Lee Cromley, 32, of Trafalgar, Ind., and Russell S. Williams Sr., 58, Indianapolis, president of the Bonded Gasoline and Oil Company of Indianapolis. The plane was owned by Gasteria, Inc., of Indianapolis.

Two women who lived on the top floor of the building also were killed.

Death Takes Mrs. W. T. Hamilton, 72, of Bankston

Mrs. W. T. (Eva) Hamilton, 72, resident of the Bankston community, died suddenly of a heart attack today at 8:12 a. m. at the home of her son, Clifford. She had been in poor health with a heart condition for the past four years.

Mrs. Hamilton was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hibbs and was born March 28, 1884, at Cottage Grove. On May 10, 1898, she married W. T. Hamilton who died May 27, 1953.

She had been a resident of the Bankston community all her married life and was a member of the Bankston church.

Survivors include three children: Mrs. Louie (Mabel) Cash, Terre Haute, Ind., Cletis Hamilton, Wayne, Mich., Clifford Hamilton, Bankston; one brother, Harvey Hibbs, Harrisburg; a sister, Mrs. Logan Dempsey, Carrier Mills; one grandchild and two great-grandchildren. A son, Herman Jack Hamilton, preceded her in death in 1937.

The body is in care of the Gaskins funeral service and arrangements await the arrival of children from a distance.

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Democratic congressional leaders today pledged "responsible" bipartisan support to President Eisenhower in coping with the "very serious" world situation.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson announced the pledge after a 2½ hour White House conference at which Mr. Eisenhower and his top aides gave congressional leaders of both parties an up-to-date report on developments in the Middle East and Eastern Europe.

"It's obviously a very serious situation," Johnson told reporters. He said "no commitments were asked or given" at the bipartisan conference. But on behalf of the Democrats, he promised:

"We will give responsible consideration to any suggestion from the administration—we will not play politics with the foreign situation."

Johnson made it clear that the Democrats were not making a blank-check promise to do anything the administration asked, but rather to "do what we think is best for America" without regard to politics.

The bipartisan meeting was Mr. Eisenhower's first move to rebuild a strong basis of national political unity following Tuesday's elections in which the voters overwhelmingly handed him a second term but gave the Democrats control of Congress.

"It was another meeting among the leaders of both parties in which the President and his assistants brought us up to date on the situation in the Middle East and Central Europe," Johnson said.

Johnson said there was no discussion in the bipartisan White House meeting about the prospects of a special session of Congress.

Special Session Wasn't Discussed

"It followed the pattern that all bipartisan meetings have followed," Johnson added. "It was very fruitful and helpful. No commitments were asked or given, but after the review, we did ask some questions."

House Republican Leader Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. commented that "while the world situation is grave, I think it will work out all right."

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), retiring chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was asked if White House officials appeared concerned about the reported Russian buildup in Syria. He replied, "I wouldn't say that." When the reporter pressed, "You mean they're not concerned?" George replied, "I wouldn't say that either."

George said he believes the Middle East situation "can be worked out unless we make a grave mistake."

Big Three Session Ignored

Other participants said the prospects of a Big Three meeting were not discussed. Reports from Paris and London today said French Premier Guy Mollet and British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden might fly to Washington later this month for talks with Mr. Eisenhower.

The White House had said earlier that while such a conference had been under discussion, there were no definite plans for it at present.

Meeting With Eisenhower Considered, British Pulling Back Air Units

BULLETIN

LONDON (U.P.)—"Dozens" of modern jet airplanes of unknown nationality have been spotted on Syrian and Saudi Arabian airfields, a French Foreign Ministry spokesman said today.

LONDON (U.P.)—Britain is pulling back "many" of its air units from the Middle East, Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden announced today. But he said they could be sent back into action again "in a matter of hours."

Eden's announcement of a limited redeployment of British forces in the eastern Mediterranean coincided with agreement by Israel to pull its forces out of the Sinai Desert, and with disclosure in Paris and Washington that an early meeting among President Eisenhower, Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet is under consideration.

The meeting would be held in Washington.

Mollet told a news conference in Paris he was planning to go to Washington and informed sources in Paris and London said Eden was preparing to go too in an effort to mend the damage to the Western alliance in the face of mysterious new Soviet moves in Europe and the Mideast.

But London diplomats cautioned that any initiative for an urgent meeting of the Big Three now had to be tackled with great delicacy. They felt the United States might want to keep a free hand for the time being.

The United States has emerged as the only non-committed power in the present crisis among the big nations.

Eden went before the House of Commons today to announce that Britain was pulling back home "many" of the air units from the Mideast. But he said they could be sent back into action again "in a matter of hours."

Eden announced a limited redeployment of British forces in the eastern Mediterranean as reports multiplied that Soviet and possibly

New South Main, Robinson Paving Open to Public

The new South Main-Robinson street paving project was opened to the public at noon yesterday.

This pavement is expected to take some of the strain off Granger street to the south part of the city.

The Mitchell Construction Co. of Herrin is doing the job. Some work at the approaches from side streets and into driveways is yet to be done and that entails putting in some stone. Also the entire section will be cleaned up.

This is the city's 1956 street project, built with motor fuel tax funds after residents of the area secured needed right-of-way.

New 1957 Frigidaire Appliances Are On Display at Lloyd L. Parker Store

Glamorous 1957 Frigidaire appliances with an exciting new Sheer Look were unveiled here today at Lloyd L. Parker's Furniture Store.

Household refrigerators, electric ranges and upright food freezers have been designed by Frigidaire engineers and General Motors stylists to build-in, blend-in or fit into nearly any kitchen arrangement and color scheme.

"The new appliances have a completely new and different type styling," Mr. Parker declared. "The clean, squared-up lines so popular in today's architecture and functional interior design are highlighted in these new products."

He pointed out that styling experts are predicting that this concept will touch off a whole new trend in appliance design that will sweep the country in chain-reaction fashion.

Blend Into Setting

The 1957 Frigidaire appliances are styled and designed so that the homemaker can have a kitchen with a built-in look without necessarily making expensive room and cabinet alterations when new equipment is installed.

The thrilling new squared-up styling makes it possible for the appliances to blend into a kitchen setting with building-block simplicity, Parker emphasized.

Frigidaire's 1957 appliances come in a provocative array of exterior colors. For the first time, the appliances are available in a new sophisticated Charcoal gray as well as Mayfair pink, Stratford yellow, Sherwood green and Snow-crest white.

There are 12 new refrigerator models with capacities from 8 to 14.1 cubic feet designed for any type kitchen or family budget. All models have new, designed recessed doors to accentuate the built-in look and fit glove-snug with adjoining kitchen cabinets. Doors of all models can be easily opened from the inside—thanks to an exclusive new safety latch and an air-cushioned door seal.

New Ideas

A new modular design concept also has been incorporated into refrigerators this year. They are built on a four-inch module in 24, 28 and 32 inch widths.

There are many other thrilling new ideas incorporated into these fashionable refrigerators. For example, there is a new lever-operated, built-in Ice Ejector on the freezer door of one model and in the bottom freezers of others. The homemaker has only to slide a tray of ice into the device, pull the lever and cold, dry ice cubes cascade into a storage bin ready for serving.

A completely new idea in departmentalized food storage is being introduced in Frigidaire's new refrigerators. There are special temperature zones for the various types of fresh and frozen foods, fruits and vegetables.

An important new storage development is the new Plan-A-Door which provides storage space in the door for nearly any type item, ranging from a half gallon milk container to the smallest condiment jar. Not only are the shelves removable, but entire storage compartments as well, permitting the homemaker to arrange them to suit the storage job at hand.

Roll Out Shelves

A new roll-out shelf delivers large gallon jugs or bottles from refrigerator storage to the homemaker's fingertips. In addition there are full-width roll-out shelves for general storage, plus roll-out freezer baskets. Flowing cold refrigeration, automatic defrosting food storage compartments, and special storage facilities for fresh meats, eggs, cheese, butter, leftovers and tall bottles are other important conveniences.

Frigidaire's built-in, blend-in styling concept has been incorporated into 10 new electric range models in 30 and 40-inch sizes. These ranges are designed to think, tend and time for the homemaker.

A heat-minding device keeps pots from burning or boiling over and a Miracle Filter in some models swallows excess oven smoke and fumes.

The homemaker will find a new simplified oven clock control as easy to set as her watch, yet this amazing device will mastermind complete oven meals from start to finish.

Some 40 inch ranges have two ovens, others a single oven, and one model is equipped with Wonder Oven that broils and bakes at the same time. One new 30-inch model has twin French doors and an oven shelf that rolls out automatically. In addition there are two 21-inch ranges for compact kitchens.

Two upright 14.0-cubic-foot Frigidaire food freezers have the new "Sheer Look", along with five automatic clothes washers and three matching electric dryers.

REVIVAL BEGINS SUNDAY AT CARRIER MILLS

A revival meeting will begin Sunday, Nov. 11, at the Carrier Mills Church of God on Friend and Harrison streets. Rev. John Cullen, pastor, will bring the messages.

Clarence Henshaw is in charge of the song service. There will be special singing each evening. Services begin at 7 p. m. Everyone invited.

16 Women in New Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen women will serve in the new Congress, tying the record high set in the first session of the last Congress.

Thirteen incumbents and two newcomers were elected to the House. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) also will be back. Her six year term doesn't expire until the 1960 elections.

The newcomers are Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer, Republican who unseated a Democrat in New Jersey's 6th district; and Mrs. W. T. Granahan, a Democrat who took over the race of her late husband, a five-term congressman in Pennsylvania's 2nd district.

They will offset vacancies in the feminine congressional contingent created by the death of Mrs. Vera Buchanan (D-Pa) and by the defeat in the primary elections of

Union Ass'n of Singers To Meet Sunday at Spring Valley Church

The regular meeting of the Union Association of Singers will be held at the Spring Valley Social Brethren church where Rev. Carl Downey is pastor Sunday, Nov. 11, at 1:30 p. m.

This lovely rural church is located on Route 34 south of Harrisburg beyond Mitchellsville.

The association was organized many years ago and goes each month, by invitation, to a church in Saline County. Lovell Hess is the president and Kressa Church, treasurer.

The Pathfinders, a well known group of fine singers, will be featured and all special singers and the public are cordially invited to attend.

Miss Ruth Thompson (R-Mich).

All women incumbents who ran in Tuesday's elections, five Republicans and eight Democrats, were re-elected.

TWO FEATURES AT THE GRAND—Howard Duff and saddle sidekick ride for revenge in a scene from "Blackjack Ketchum, Desperado," to show at the Grand Friday and Saturday. Also on the double feature program will be "Mystery of the Black Jungle," with Lex Barker.

Newly-Elected State Representatives To Meet November 14

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Newly elected state representatives will assemble here Nov. 14 for an "orientation session" to get acquainted with procedures and practices of Illinois lawmakers.

House Speaker Warren Wood (R-Plainfield) issued the invitations Wednesday.

Wood, who won re-election himself, said on the basis of unofficial returns the Republicans will organize the House with a majority of 11. The membership includes 94 Republicans and 83 Democrats. 67 of them new members and 6 former members who did not serve in the 1955 Legislature.

Wood also announced he will be a candidate to succeed himself as speaker when the House convenes in January.

U. S. Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois today announced that the Small Business Administration yesterday approved a loan of $150,000 to the LyMar hotel in Herrin.

Little Chance Of Tax Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some small businessmen may get a tax cut in the next session of Congress. But there's little chance other taxpayers will get any tax relief next year unless the country is unexpectedly plunged into an economic recession.

The new Democratic Congress early next year will launch a big investigation into tax "loopholes." Democratic tax writers hope the inquiry will pave the way for a general reduction in income tax rates without unbalancing the budget.

Loses Election Bet

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Ferace, a New London, Conn., liquor dealer paid off an election bet here Wednesday. He was pictured Transplanting a tree requires planning, study and complex execution. Frequently we see a tree growing in a forest which we feel would enhance the property around our home.

Thinking It Over

If we are in a hurry, we dig around the tree, cutting enough roots to be able to pull the plant out of the ground with only part of the roots. We then dig a little hole and crowd the underground portion of the tree into the opening. Sometimes this poor tree lives, but in many cases it dies.

If we cut the roots during nature's dormant period, and allow the root ends to heal before removing the whole plant the chances of successful replanting are better. Time and care are required if we wish to have a healthy tree in its new environment.

God takes great pains with His children when they are transplanted into His eternal garden. We humans who try to share in God's process forget that all people are different and that transplanting must be done on an individual basis.

Eisenhower Will Probably Take Two
Oaths of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower probably will begin his second term by taking two oaths of office—one in the traditional inaugural ceremonies on Jan. 21 and a private one a day earlier.

He probably will take two oaths because under the Constitution Mr. Eisenhower's new term will begin promptly at noon on Jan. 20. But that will be a Sunday and the government traditionally transacts no official public business on Sundays.

Taking note of this situation, the Congress this year approved a resolution setting the inaugural ceremonies for Monday, Jan. 21.

Mr. Eisenhower, in order that he may carry out his official duties during the 24-hour interval, probably will take the oath privately at the White House on Sunday and again in the public ceremonies at the Capitol the following day.

THE CARRIER MILLS WILDCATS are ready for the season's opener and will meet Vienna Saturday night in the annual CMCHS Homecoming basketball game. Carrier Mills Wildcats to Play Vienna in Season Opener Saturday

One of the top events on the three-day Homecoming program at Carrier Mills Community high school is scheduled for Saturday night when the Wild Cats meet Vienna in the season's cage opener for both schools.

Homecoming festivities started Thursday with the presentation of the Junior Class play, "Me and My Shadow," continues this evening with the annual bonfire, pep rally and snake dance.

Tomorrow is the big day. The parade is listed for Saturday afternoon, the basketball game for Saturday night, and following the game will come the dance and coronation of the Homecoming Queen.

Basketball fans are eagerly looking forward to their first glimpse of the 1956-57 edition of the Wild Cats.

Willis New Coach
Lost from last year's squad are three starters—high scoring Oliver Rollins, now playing with the Harlem Globe Trotters, who was center for four years and the two guards from last year, Jim Reed and J. C. Stormes. And last year's coach, Claude Shelton, is also missing, having resigned to accept the case coaching job at Metropolis.

A. L. "Kayo" Willis, coach at Equality for three years, is the new CMCHS coach and will introduce a type of ball new to Carrier Mills fans.

"We will use a fast break," Willis stated recently. "The boys like to run and shoot and are big enough to handle the rebounding against most teams, so we will get away from set plays and really move," the coach declared.

He added that this could be a good season for the Wild Cats, but it might take two or three games to iron out some of the kinks.

Will Face Tall Vienna Five
One change has been the moving of Harold Fitts from forward to guard, a position brand new to him. But the biggest kink will be getting everyone used to shooting. The CM offense was built around "Big Ollie," death under the basket, for so long that even the senior members of this year's team have trouble remembering to shoot.

In Vienna, the Wild Cats will face a fairly tall team. Four experienced performers are Bill Crews, 6-4; Ray Vandell, 6-3; Billy Fainless, 5-10; Don Brady, 5-10. Vandell was the team's top scorer last year with 205 points.

Carroll Belcher, Vienna coach, in a letter to The Daily Register, said recently, "Last year I lost only one player I thought would hurt me, but since then one boy moved north, one quit to help on the farm after his father had a heart attack, another quit on doctor's orders for high blood pressure and Ray Walters broke his leg in the last baseball game on the fall schedule."

"The first three would have been subs, but Walters was first five last year. He's 6-2 and my most rugged rebounder. So now my ball club depends on Walters' replacement."

Berrios Favored Over Elorde in TV Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Sawed-off Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico and slender Flash Elorde of the Philippines, two eager young featherweight contenders, meet tonight in a televised return elimination 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Although they are rated almost on a par as contenders, Berrios is favored at 9-5 to beat Elorde because of his split-decision over Flash in their August thriller and because of his relentless attack.

Among the world's 126-pound aspirants, 24-year-old Berrios is ranked fifth; 23-year-old Elorde, sixth. Each is gunning for a shot at the title.

Elorde knocked out 14 of his 45 opponents. His 33-10-2 record includes stops by champion Sandy Saddler and by Kid Independence. Berrios has had only 25 pro fights for a 19-6-0 record. He registered only three kayos.

Bob Feller May Be Seeking New Pitching Job

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Feller, one of baseball's greatest stars and an "institution" in Cleveland, may be looking for another pitching job before the end of the month.

Feller, who helped bring the million-a-year crowds to Cleveland baseball, won't be asked to return to the Indians' pitching staff.

Instead, General Manager Hank Greenberg is ready to offer the former speedball king a front office assignment on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

It's a safe bet Feller will leave it.

An Indians spokesman said Greenberg wants a younger pitcher added to the staff in Feller's place, because the present staff is aging.

Advance Look At N.L. in '57

IN THE

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (AP)—One little shot in the pitching arm and the Cincinnati Reds next season are going to be forcing a National League demand that they be given a saliva test.

Taking an advance look at the 1957 campaign, it seems obvious that if the muscular Reds get any lift at all on the mound it is quite probable that they will run away and hide from the rest of the league.

Looking them over, they shape up this way:

Cincinnati Redlegs

Give 'em even one, or possibly two starters to go with Brooks Lawrence, Hal Jeffcoat, Joe Nuxhall and Johnny Klippstein, and those hitters will break up the National League.

Milwaukee Braves

The front line pitching is there but the Braves need a reliever, help at second base and outfield punch. Also they need somebody to give 'em a boot in the stern and put some life in the club.

Brooklyn Dodgers

Father Time is calling the shots here. In addition, those Dodgers require a left fielder, some young blood in the pitching department and more pinch-hitting strength.

St. Louis Cardinals

This gang, not the "Gashouse" but no Fauntleroy's, either, might come on strong with a good fireman, a shortstop half as good as Marty Marion and some outfield assistance.

Philadelphia Phillies

They need some of everything, namely power, speed and bench strength. The young pitching needs time to develop and it wouldn't be too surprising if they dealt Robin Roberts to patch several leaks.

New York Giants

A season of bluff under Coogan's Bluff. Construction is needed in every department and there are no building materials on hand.

Pittsburgh Pirates

The word is that the Bucs might come up with the best pitching staff in the National League. They need overall help, however, and still seem a long way from being a challenger.

Chicago Cubs

The pitching isn't to be criticized but almost everything else is shopworn or lack-luster. You can bet good odds there will be no pennant at Wrigley Field.

Bull Dogs Play Benton Rangers At Taylor Field Saturday Night

Will Be Final
Game of Season
For Local Squad

Final game of the football season for the Harrisburg Bull Dogs comes to Taylor Field Saturday night with powerful Benton the opponents. Game time is 7:30.

The Bull Dogs, who have won but one game this year, face a team that has lost one, tied one and has copped all the rest.

Harrisburg last week entered the victory column with a 7-6 South Seven win over West Frankfort.

Coach Ralph Davidson's Benton boys' wins include knocking two teams out of the undefeated ranks—Cairo and Eldorado. Only loss was to powerful Danville. The tie was with Centralia, only blemish on the Orphans' record for the season. Both Benton and Centralia are tied for the South Seven lead with wins for all loop tilts except the tie the two teams played when they met.

Hewitt, Ranger tackle, is said to be one of the best in the state, and a fine backfield consists of Rhodes at quarterback, Ross and Melvin at halfbacks and Mace at fullback.

Four Harrisburg seniors will be playing their last game as Bull Dogs. They are Captain Jim Cummins, quarterback; Lou Williams, guard; Ronnie Vick, tackle; and John Zeigler, fullback.

Coach Lawrence Caluffetti probably will start Bill Yates and Bud Logan at ends, Vick and Ray Hasset at tackles, Williams and Gary Aldridge at guards, Allen Buchanan at center, Cummins at quarterback, Don Biggs and Mickey Stone at halfbacks and Zeigler at fullback. Two boys who will see about as much action as these will be Eddie Price and Jack Simpson.

It will be Parents Night at Taylor field. Parents of the players will sit in chairs along the sideline and will be introduced with their sons.

The Bull Pups will finish their season Monday in a game at Benton starting at 7 p. m.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Bruhn, the outlaw, and his pack arrive in Bitter in time to break up a bid for gunplay at the Wyoming saloon. Shorty Ratner, one of the outlaws, is wounded and Bruhn asks if there's a doctor in town. Bartender Tommy Rikes directs him to Doc Langer.

VI
Bruhn pointed his finger at Claggett. "You go with Charley and get the doctor. Leave your gun here."
"Me!" Claggett demanded.
"Show Charley the way," Bruhn said shortly.

Claggett lifted his hands to his belt buckle. Tex and the half breed watched him narrowly, their fingers played over their own guns. Claggett looked to Crane in appeal. A dull red suffused Crane's face.

"It's one thing to ask a favor," he said in a choked voice. "Another thing to spur a man. You stand hitched. That's an order."

Tex looked over his shoulder at Crane, eyes cold and narrow. Without warning or change of expression, he swung on the ball of his foot and his arm lashed out, the clenched fist traveling in a short piston stroke that cracked loudly off Crane's chin. Crane's head snapped back, he hung suspended for a long second, then spilled backwards, arms swinging wide, his feet turning at the ankles. He struck the bar with a dull thud, his body lurching forward with the impact, then settling back against the mahogany and sliding slowly down it. His rump struck the brass rail and he sat there, like a sodden drunk, then bumped to the floor and fell to one side.

Dan lunged forward. But a gun barrel jabbed in his side and the bearded Denver smiled a warning through his whiskers, his eyes slitted and waiting. Dan settled back on his heels.

Silence held the room. The eight outlaws calmly looked at Crane stretched in the sawdust, slack and unmoving. The others stared with a growing sense of horror. Lewis made a strangled noise in his throat and jumped away from the bar.

His hand whipped to his gun and his fingers touched the walnut butt. The gun had always been a tool for Lewis, never a weapon. He was slow, pitifully slow.

The kid with the handsome, pale face did not seem to move. Yet something flashed in the light and a blast of flame jumped from his hand, a spear of fire that lanced toward Lewis. Smoke billowed and, through it, Dan saw the pale eyes alight, dancing, filled with a glee that made something twist and crawl within him.

Lewis jerked half around and his gun, only half out of the holster, caught on its lip, gave a half spin and dropped to the sawdust. His right arm hung limp as he catapulted against the bar, caught himself. He hung there, face slack with surprise, eyes rounded.

"Pace," Bruhn growled, "you can be too quick."

Pace didn't move, his eyes fixed on Lewis. He spoke softly with a note of regret. "Why, Jack, he wanted to play gun-hawk."

A snap came in Bruhn's heavy voice. "Put it up, Odium. You've dehorned him. You don't notch your gun on an unarmed man."

Crane moaned and stirred. His eyes slowly opened and he stared glassily along the level of the floor. He suddenly lifted his head, surprised.

"Still giving orders?" Bruhn asked silkily. Crane pulled himself up, looked down at the clinging sawdust on his shirt and trousers. "Do as they say," he choked. "Nothing else for it."

Dan wondered why the outlaws had not bothered to take his gun and those of Crane, Starrett and the others. Tommy must have some sort of weapon hidden behind the bar, standard equipment for any saloon, no matter how peaceful. So far the outlaws had been well able to take care of themselves.

He tried to get Starrett's eyes in the mirror, make some signal to show that he was ready. He had a clear view of Starrett's face for a moment. Starrett's eyes grew thoughtful, actually pleased, and then he sat down so that Dan could no longer see his image in the mirror.

Dan lowered his eyes to his glass and he slowly moved it around on the bar between thumb and fingers. Blaise was no ally and Dan was at a loss to explain it. That left him Crane, and Crane had already tasted outlaw treatment. Dan eased slowly about, and watched Hal, working over Lewis.

Hal ripped open the man's shirt and tried to stop the bleeding. From the sag of the shoulder and the useless hang of the arm, Dan judged Lewis had a splintered shoulder. Hal looked angry but Dan knew that, right now, he dared not bank on the man's help. Seven men lined against him, and Dan knew each was a killer.

Suddenly Bruhn, who had been staring into the bar mirror, turned and walked to the door. He opened it and looked out, studied the street in every direction. He looked thoughtful, and then his craggy jaw set. He turned, closing the door behind him.

"We'll stay here, boys." The outlaws turned, surprised but pleased. Bruhn looked at Dan. "Shuck your gun on the bar. That goes for you, mister," he added to Crane. He looked at Starrett, his glance an order. Starrett shrugged.

"You're the boss, Jack." Bruhn looked sharply at Starrett, as though trying to understand a slight friendliness where he had expected only distrust and hatred.

Israel Premier Cancels Plans For NBC Film

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—The channel swim...

The crisis in the Middle East forced David Ben-Gurion, premier of Israel, to cancel out a planned "Elder Wise Men" film. The NBC-TV crew was scheduled to take off for Israel next week.

Patti Page has clinched the emcee job on the upcoming CBS-TV music show, "The Big Record." Patti will shoot a test kinescope of the show on Nov. 23.

Ed Sullivan has landed a film clip of Elvis Presley's new movie, "Love Me Tender," for his Nov. 18 show. Peter Lind Hayes has been asked to fill in for Arthur Godfrey on three Friday morning CBS-TV shows starting Nov. 23. Pete also has been notified he'll fill in for Godfrey when the red-head takes off on an African safari in March.

Steve Allen has asked for "out" from "Tonight" after the first of the year so he can channel his efforts into his Sunday NBC-TV show. It looks as if NBC-TV will go along with the request.

When Kate Smith and Bing Crosby work the Ed Sullivan show this Sunday, it'll mark the first time in almost a quarter of a century the two singers have toiled in the same arena—their last appearance together was in the movie, "The Big Broadcast of 1932."

"G. E. Theatre" likes its Nov. 25 show so much, it'll cut out the middle commercial—it stars Piper Laurie.

Gleason has ditched the 16 "Glee girls" on his show. They're the gals who don't dance or talk or sing—they just slink.

Postal Patrons Can Speed Christmas Mail

Postal patrons this coming Christmas season can speed the processing and assure quicker delivery of their Christmas parcels and cards by availing themselves of various postal services and free postal information pamphlets. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today.

The services mentioned by the Postmaster General include:

1. This year, for the first time, sealed parcels may be mailed at the third- or fourth-class postage rates without labels, notations, endorsements, or hieroglyphics of any kind authorizing the opening of parcels for postal inspection. Packages sealed with modern sealing materials or even with plain

Christmas seals should carry better in the mail than unsealed ones. Strong cord should also be used.

2. Combination Mail, which was used for the first time during last Christmas season, and which permits a mailer to enclose a letter or message inside a gift parcel and pay the appropriate postage on it plus postage for the package itself.

3. Certified Mail, also used for the first time in the 1955 season, which permits mailers to have proof of delivery of Christmas letters, cards or parcels having no intrinsic value for a postal fee of 15 cents plus first-class postage.

4. Registered mail which provides greater security protection to letters and parcels carrying items of real financial value.

5. Special Delivery mail which is given immediate delivery at the office of address during prescribed hours.

6. Airmail and air parcel post provides quick delivery of cards and parcels to all sections of the country.

The free postal pamphlets—available at all post offices—are entitled "Packaging and Wrapping

Final Color Tour Sunday, Nov. 11

The final color tour of the season is to meet at the intersection of Routes 13 and 127 at the east edge of Murphysboro Sunday, Nov. 11 at 9:30 a. m.

It will visit the Little Grand Canyon-Horseshoe Bluff area about 10 miles from the meeting point, in one of the most scenic and spectacular sections in western southern Illinois. Several well-known guides will participate. The public is invited.

Parcels for Mailing" and "Domestic Postage Rates and Fees." Used together, these pamphlets should answer practically all questions any Christmas mailer might have on fees, rates, special services and protection of Christmas parcels in transit.

The Postmaster General emphasized the importance of separating local and out-of-town mail. Free labels for that purpose are available at post offices.
